The Law Fights Back

A bold robbery was staged yesterday in the broad daylight of Edmonton's financial district.

Three men, disguised as civilians, attempted to rob a GardaWorld armoured transport vehicle. However, today the criminals were one step behind the law. Police say an anonymous caller tipped them off to the heist mere hours before it was to take place. This way the police could use the armoured van as bait in an attempt to catch the would-be heistmen. Their plan went awry too however when a fourth man arrived in a stolen Nissan X-Trail, allowing the three men to escape. The criminals, as of now, are still at large.
